OROZCO HALTS ADVANCE

Awaits Result of Decisive Battle-American Gunner Checks Federals at Critical Time.

JIMENEZ, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 1. Determined to avenge the rout and defeat of Campa by the Federals of Parral, the rebels have thrown practically all their available force against the city and the battle is proceeding hotly again.

Throughout yesterday afternoon three was fighting near Parral between the Federals and the small command of Major Quevedo, which remained in its position on the retreat of Campa.

Gen. Salazar with his cavalry forces reached the scene at night and immediately pitched camp. To his rear were left three heavy field pieces, which will be tak-en up soon for use in bombarding the town. At daylight fighting was resumed.

Gen. Salazar is attempting a flank movement, while Gen. Fernandez and Major Quevedo are engaging the loyalist front. The Federals are but a short distance outside the city and seem to have excellent positions. Casualties are few, although the firing is heavy. The loyalists are not using artillery.

Gen. Orozco has decided not to begin his movement south to Torreon until Salaza" and Fernandez succeed in winning the Parral region which is giving so much trouble now. The Federal movements out of Torreon are being watched very closely by Orozco. Reports are being received every day from Escalon, where the majority of the Liberal troops are stationed pending the march south, and thus far it is stated the Federals have not ventured far from their base, except a few small scout bodies. It is said at headquarters here that Gen. Huerta's movements are known and that just as soon as he begins to get close to the north the Liberals will be ready to receive him. Campa was defeated at Parral, he dethe Liberals will be ready to receive him.

Campa was defeated at Parral, he declares, becruse of the failure of Major Quevedo to execute a flank movement as ordered. Campa drove the Federals off a big hil commanding Parral and began shelling the town from the hill with cannon and machine guns, but meantime the Federals got positions on other hills higher than that held by the rebels and surrounding their poured down a fire so hot that Campa's men soon became demoralized and retreated in great disorder, the Federals following them for some distance.

Samuel Dreben of Philadelphia, operator of the rebel machine gun, by holding his position and driving the Federals back enabled the rebels to escape, otherwise they might have been surrounded.

A woman fought in the rebel ranks with her husband, who was one of the men killed, and afterward she carried his body away with her on hoselsack, until forced to leave it in the road when the Federals pressed the retreating robels too close.

The rebels are uncertain just what commands now hold Parral against them, but are certain that Pancho Villa is in command. Gen. Tellez, Gen. Soto and Gen.

Urbina have been reported inside Parral, but telegrams from Federal sources which reach here declare that Tellez is still at Mapimi and that Soto remained true to Orozco after embracing his cause and is now a Federal prisoner at Mapimi.

Et Paso, Tex., April 4.—Powell Roberts, former El Paso policeman, who was arrested by the rebels in Juarez this week and sent to Chihuahua for trial on the charge of being a Maderist agent, has been released according to advices telegraphed from Chihuahua to Juarez to-day.

Eight hundred railroad men joined the Government forces at Torreon to-day and the situation shows a big improvement from the Government's standpoint according to advices here.

Washington, April 4.—A possible motive for the capture of Poweil Roberts, a citizen of the United States living at El-Paso, Tex., by the rebel police authorities of Juarez, Mexico, is an effort oa the part of the rebels to gain official recognition from the American Government.

The suggestion has reached the State Department that the rebels might have hoped to gain this desired recognition by compelling the American authorities to treat with them for Roberts's release.

Whether or not that was the motive, the capture of Roberts apparently has made recognition of the rebel movement by this Government more remote than ever. It was stated to-day there is nothing at all stabls in the revolutionary movement, and accordingly it cannot be recognized. Consul Edwards at Juarez was given detailed instructions on this point to-day, so that he may not create the wrong impression in making demands upon the rebels for Roberts's release.

with a negro on top of a passenger coach of the northbound Illinois Central fast mail train here at midnight last night. A policeman and the negro were killed. The dead policeman was L. G. Atwood. The name of the negro is not known.

A telegram from McComb told that the negro was on the train and that he had emptied two revolvers at officers who attempted to arrest him there.

Atwood, accompanied by Jackson Lane, another policeman, was waiting when the train came to the station here. The negro, who was on the blind baggage car, climbed upon a coach and started to run toward the rear of the train. In answer to a summons to halt he drew two pistols, one an automatic, and began firing. LETTER AND SPIRIT

The Eighty Maiden Lane Building and the land upon which it is erected represent an investment of over $4,000,000.

The contract for this building, like all such contracts, provided for extensions of time in the event of strikes, etc., and the opportunities were rife for the claiming of such extensions had we insisted upon a strict observance of contract rights.

In fact, if our conduct of this operation had been wholly governed by contractual obligations, the 27-story office building at Eighty Maiden Lane would probably be unfinished at this writing, tenants could not move in during the present renting season, and the Owners would suffer a big loss on their investment.

But beyond our contractual Magdalena Bay. possession and that the Owners should not face the handicap of a ren al loss at the very threshold of their enterprise.

The great achievements of the world always transcend the letter and fulfill the spirit. The reputation of this Company has been attained not alone by adhering to the letter of its promises, but by fulfilling those promises in spirit—not alone by meeting its contractual obligations, but by meeting its moral obligations, too. The great achievements of moral obligations, too.

LESS RENT AND MORE SUNSHINE!

Two things stand out clearly in connection with the new Eighty Maiden Lane Building low rents and abundant sunshine. Other buildings in the same neighborhood rent for more per foot and are not planned to yield anything like the same proportion of light.

Obviously, if you are open for a change of location the for a change of location the logical solution is the Eighty Maiden Lane Building. It offers you the greatest possible share of light and sunshine at rents which are less per foot of space than you would have to pay in other buildings where facilities are not so modern and sunshine is not so abundant.

More sunshine for less money is a likely-looking proposition and we advise you to get next to it. Phone the Fire Companies Building Corporation - 796

MAGDALENA BAY STORY "MEREST BUNCOMBE"

Says Chairman Sulzer of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House.

NO FOUNDATION IN FACT

Taft's Reply to the Lodge Resolution Will Be Reassuring in Regard to Our Relations With Japan.

Washington, April 4.—The reply which President Taft will make to the Lodge resolution on Magdalena Bay will be assuring in regard to the relations of the United States with both Japan and Mexico. The reply will show in fact that this Government has not been able to discover any effort on the part of either Japan or Mexico toward arranging a concession to Japanese interests or obligations referred to was our moral responsibility to the Owners—that unwritten, irreducible part of the contract, which kept ever before us the vital necessity of completing the building on time, in order that tenants might be given the maggaient bay reports as designed to further the navy fight for two battleships. At any rate it was noted to-day that Secrétary Meyer had been raised over the maggaient bay reports as designed to further the navy fight for two battleships. At any rate it was noted to-day that Secrétary Meyer had been quick to seize upon the situation created by his friend the Senator from Massachusetts to urge his battleship. programme.

Representative Sulzer claims to be informed as to the situation in regard to Magdalena Bay and he issued a formal statement declaring that the report that "Japan or any syndicate acting for Japan has acquired rights, directly or indirectly, at Magdalena Bay or elsewhere in Mexico has no foundation in fact." "I speak advisedly about the matter," Mr. Sulzer said. "The proposition is ridiculous. In view of our well settled policy the assertion that Japan has acquired a base on the Pacific coast of Mexico refutes itself and is too absurd for serious contradiction by Mexico or Japan."

The Sulzer statement characterizes the Lodge resolutions as the "merest bun-combe" "Its purpose," says Mr. Sulzer,

The company has represented to the State Department through various attorneys that it has a concession on a large tract of land on Magdalena Bay which Japan interests have been anxious to obtain from them. The company, according to the attorneys and letters would prefer, through patriotism, to sell to the United States Government. These propositions were never taken seriously.

The company is said to have obtained its concession from the Flooris-Hale estate of San Francisco in 1904 for about $500,000. It has been offered to the Government at prices ranging from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The charter company claims that the original concession was granted many years ago by the Mexican Government for an extension period.

WASHINGTON, April 4 .-- A delegation from Porto Rico, protestants against free sugar, were introduced to the Senate Finance Committee by Secretary of War Stimson to-day

It was recognized, Secretary Stimson said, that Porto Rico would be a permanent part of the territory of the United States. The people had been placed by this country on the American standard of prices, he added, and it would be crue to destroy sugar and coffee, the chief industries of the island, while requiring them to buy at high prices. "is well understood by those on the inside. However, it will do no harm, and when the answer is officially filed the atmosphere will be cleared of clouds and we will hear no more of Mexico ceding Japan a naval base on the Pacific."

Mr. Sulzer made this statement after going over the situation at some length with the President.

One of the most interesting features of this report will be the disclosure of an apparent attempt by Americans and others claiming to have concessions or options on concessions to sell them to the United States in anticipation of their falling into Japanese hands. Ever since the Japanese war scare came up a few years ago the Washington authorities hasve recognized numerous attempts of this nature to make profitable deals with the American Government.

It is learned on authority that the "Char-

Senate Appropriates $4.200 Her Scalp Torn Off by Tabulating Machine. WASHINGTON, April 4.- The Senate to-day devoted most of the session to the consideration of a bill for the relief of Miss Alice V. Houghton, formerly a clerk in the Census Bureau, who met with an accident a year ago by which her scalp was torn off and other injuries inflicted by coming in contact with a tabulating machine. Her condition was critical for several weeks and she is still under treatment.

The peculiar nature of her injuries aroused wide attention and sympathy.

GET ENSIGNS' COMMISSIONS.

More Than 300 Middles Beceive Promotion From Secretary.
Washington, April 4.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer issued to-day the last of more than 300 ensigns' commissions to graduates of the Naval Academy. The commissions have been signed by the President, a few at a time as he found.

Arizona's New Senator Presents State Please aroused wide attention and sympathy. Her scalp has been restored by grafting, but she is still suffering from nervousness produced by the shock. The special session of Congress appropriated $1,800 to pay the doctor's bill and other expenses and to reimburse her for the loss of salary. To-day this appropriation was increased by adding $4,200, which will be paid to her in instalments of $50 a month.

The debate to-day was as to the amount that should be allowed for the injuries. Senator Crawford of South Dakota, ochairman of the Claims Committee, suggested that Miss Houghton's appearance would not suffer as a result of the injuries, because the liberal appropriation would enable her to buy the handsomest wig.

Senator Martine of New Jersey thought Senator Crawford's remarks inappropriated that the South Dakotan hasten to with-draw his remarks about the wig before the record was printed. He said that a lady might have a glass eye or a cork leg, but insisted that the discussion of such physical infirmities was unworthy of the dignity and humanity of the United States Senator. Mr. Heiser investigated the case, and the bankruptcy proceedings, it is alleged, developed that there was a scheme afoot to defraud the creditors out of many thousands.

The investigation resulted in Wilson's arrest for grand larceny and perjury. While on his way to court one day Wilson escaped from two detectives, It was learned rocently by Mr. Heiser that Wilson was in Rochester. He has been working as a conductor for the New York State Railways, Rochester lines, for seven months. He was lured to the car barns from his home and arrested by Mr. Heiser.
